LANCASTER/FAIRFIELD COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

BUSINESS RESOURCE CENTER

Building Your Business Plan

The Lancaster Fairfield County Chamber of Commerce's Business Resource Center offers a full suite of resources to help get your business started or keep your established business on the right track.

The information hub can help you get connected to all the right tools for your business to succeed. The Chamber offers regular business development seminars, networking opportunities with other Chamber business owners and a library of documents to help answer your business-related questions.

Monthly seminars will be held on a variety of business-building topics including business planning, financing, marketing and future growth strategies. The seminars will be interactive discussions to help individuals evaluate their business needs. Advice on applying for loans and guidance on pursuing state and federal government contracts and opportunities will also are available.

The first seminar is from 7:30-9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 24 at the Chamber office, 109 North Broad Street in Lancaster. Local commercial bankers also will be available to answer questions and for discussion after the presentation. The seminar is free and open to the public. Please RSVP to Alicia Conrad via email at alicia@lancoc.org

SPEAKER: David Rivers, SBDC (Small Business Development Center)

TOPIC: Best Practices of Building Business Plans