Fairfield County Approves Extended Liability Agreement with Artex Oil In Order to Protect Roads and Field Tiles

Lancaster, Ohio – The Fairfield County Board of Commissioners recently approved an extended liability agreement with Artex Oil. The purpose of the agreement was to protect the roads and field tiles that could be impacted by any exploration conducted by Artex Oil.

The County Engineer, Jeremiah Upp, recommended the agreement to protect the roads and tiles and issued the right of way permit based on potential advantages to residents of Fairfield County.

For any questions about the agreement, please email jeff.camechis@fairfieldcountyohio.gov or call (740) 652-2372. The right of way permit and agreement are posted at <https://www.co.fairfield.oh.us/> along with this news release.

The county does not receive any compensation relating to Artex Oil’s exploration.
