Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging (COAAA) Seeks Input from Fairfield County Older Adults Through Community Survey

The Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging (COAAA), is encouraging older adults throughout Fairfield County to complete a community survey that has been mailed to randomly selected households across the region.

The anonymous survey helps identify the needs, priorities, and concerns of older adults and caregivers, ensuring that local programs, services, and resources reflect the realities of aging in our communities. Responses will help guide future planning and investments that support older adults' health, independence, and quality of life.

"The insights gathered through this survey will help us better understand the challenges and priorities facing older adults in Fairfield County. Every response contributes to planning and resources that support residents as they age, and we encourage those who receive a survey to make their voices heard," said Fairfield County Commission President Steve Davis.

About COAAA

COAAA arranges and coordinates in-home services for older adults and individuals with disabilities, including homemaking, home-delivered meals, personal care, and transportation. COAAA provides advice, education, and support to family caregivers, and advocates for programs and policies that benefit older adults and individuals with disabilities.
